Connect

Polly is an outdoor person, and she loves all sorts of outdoor activities. Lately, she has taken an interest in flying devices such as kites and airplanes.

While watching her beautiful kites soar in the air, she has often wondered what it would feel like if she could fly.

Although her dream to “fly like a bird” isn’t possible, she wonders what it would be like to fly a propeller plane and drift away while watching life on Earth far below. How cool would that be?
